

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

Advocate of Peace

Vol. 83

JULY, 1921

No. 7

ADVOCATE OF PEACE

Edited by ARTHUR DEERIN CALL

Published since 1834 by

THE AMERICAN PEACE SOCIETY

(1815-1828)

Suite 612-614 Colorado Building, Washington, D. C.

(Cable address, "Ampax, Washington")

PUBLISHED MONTHLY, EXCEPT SEPTEMBER

Sent free to all members of the American Peace Society. Separate Subscription Price, $2.00 a year. Single copies, twenty cents each.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, June 1, 1911, at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., under the act of July 16, 1894. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized August 10, 1918.

It being impracticable to express in these columns the divergent views of the thousands of members of the American Peace Society, full responsibility for the utterances of this magazine is assumed by the Editor.

THIS SOCIETY

OUR READERS will be glad to know that our call for the $15,000 to meet the offer of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace ended in an over-subscription. It will be recalled that the Endowment offered to give to the American Peace Society a sum equal to its income from other sources up to and including $15,000, providing that amount was raised before July 1, 1921. Without any "drive" or "campaign," friends of the American Peace Society came forth, with the result that on the evening of June 30 the amount had been exceeded by several hundred dollars. The Secretary of the Society believes that he has personally thanked each one contributing to this successful result. But it should be recorded that all the officers of the Society appreciate this evidence of co-operation and support.

We are now notified that the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has offered again to give the American Peace Society a sum equal to its income from other sources to and including $15,000, providing that sum be raised by the American Peace Society between now and July 1, 1922. The meaning of this is perfectly clear. Every dollar contributed to the work of the American Peace Society will mean two dollars for the extension of that service. This amount should be forthcoming at once as a matter of business. The sooner it is received the less expense for purposes of correspondence.

THE PRESIDENT of this Society, Hon. Andrew J. Montague, member of Congress from Virginia, will attend the meeting of the Interparliamentary Union, Stockholm, Sweden, August 16-19. Other members of the Congress planning to attend are: Senator William B. McKinley, President of the American Group; Senator Selden P. Spencer, of Missouri; Senator Thomas Sterling, of South Dakota; Senator J. T. Robinson, of Arkansas; Representative Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio; Ex-Representative James L. Slayden, of Texas. There are others who hope also to go.

THE EDITOR of this magazine will be in Europe during August and September. As a member of the Council of the Bureau Internationale de la Paix he will attend the Conference of the Peace Societies affiliated with the Bureau, at Luxembourg, August 10, 11, and 12; as Executive-Secretary of the American Group of the Interparliamentary Union, he will attend the nineteenth international conference of the Interparliamentary Union in Stockholm, August 16-19; and he will be at the opening of the League of Nations in Geneva, September 5.

THE "SUGGESTIONS FOR A GOVERNED WORLD," facing this page, were set forth by Dr. James Brown Scott in his address at the banquet of the American Peace Society in honor of its ninety-third anniversary, in Washington, May 28, 1921. The address in full appeared in the last number of the ADVOCATE OF PEACE. It ought not to be necessary to remind our readers of the author's peculiar qualifications for a work such as this: Editor-in-Chief of the American Journal of International Law, formerly Solicitor in the Department of State, and later special adviser to the Department of State, lecturer on international law in Johns Hopkins University, technical delegate and expert in international law of the United States at the Second Peace Conference at The Hague, President of the American Institute of International Law, technical adviser of the American Commission to negotiate peace at Paris—these constitute but a few of his contributions in the realm of international affairs.